

Colé

Colé van dais is a South African independent singer/ songwriter who has been performing locally and internationally for the past 20 years at corporate functions, music festivals, schools, casinos, private functions and other events.

With a mission to entertain, inspire, and positively influence her audience she takes them on an emotional journey through music, from sadness to happiness and joy, to the point where they feel they are part of the show and want to participate, leaving them feeling exhilarated and wanting more!

With her beautiful, easily recognisable unique voice, Colé sings a selection of original and cover songs for any audience young or old in a variety of genres including pop, rock, jazz, dance, and adult contemporary in English or Afrikaans, depending on the audience. On her latest Duet album – a compilation of duets with local and international artists – she adds some lyrics in different languages like Latvian, Yoruba, Thai, Tsonga, Spanish and Danish. She recently won an award from ESC Covers for Best International Collaboration with the duet song, Molayo (I have joy) with Gbenga Adenuga. Colé's singles & albums are available at all major digital stores distributed independently through her management company, Colé Music.

Highlights of her career include performing at The Eurovision song contest in Copenhagen, Denmark in 2014 as the first South African artist to be officially booked to perform at this prestigious event that is hosted by a different European country each year. She acted and performed solo, duo or as lead role in musical theatre productions touring UK, Scotland, The Isle of Skye and The Mediterranean Islands; presented her own health talk show on SKY TV from London with over 1 million viewers, and acted as Prince Harry's girlfriend in his ITV documentary.

With her stunning voice and vibrant personality, this professional well experienced artist knows how to keep her audience captivated! With a powerful passionate performance complimented by stylish outfits, Colé is sure to be an asset to any successful event!